SELLER Denise W. Ford

INFORMATION REGARDING THE REAL ESTATE SELLER DISCLOSURE LAW

The Real Estate Seller Disclosure Law (68 P.S. §7301, et seq.) requires that before an agreement of sale is signed, the seller in a residential real estate transfer must disclose all known material defects about the property being sold that are not readily observable. A material defect is a problem with a residential real property or any portion of it that would have a significant adverse impact on the value of the property or that involves an unreasonable risk to people on the property. The fact that a structural element, system or subsystem is at or beyond the end of its normal useful life is not by itself a material defect.

This property disclosure statement ("Statement") includes disclosures beyond the basic requirements of the Law and is designed to assist Seller in complying with disclosure requirements and to assist Buyer in evaluating the property being considered. Sellers who wish to see or use the basic disclosure form can find the form on the website of the Pennsylvania State Real Estate Commission. Neither this Statement nor the basic disclosure form limits Seller's obligation to disclose a material defect.

This Statement discloses Seller's knowledge of the condition of the Property as of the date signed by Seller and is not a substitute for any inspections or warranties that Buyer may wish to obtain. This Statement is not a warranty of any kind by Seller or a warranty or representation by any listing real estate broker, any selling real estate broker, or their licensees. Buyer is encouraged to address concerns about the condition of the Property that may not be included in this Statement.

The Law provides exceptions (listed below) where a property disclosure statement does not have to be completed. All other sellers are obligated to complete a property disclosure statement, even if they do not occupy or have never occupied the Property.

1. Transfers by a fiduciary during the administration of a decedent estate, guardianship, conservatorship or trust.
2. Transfers as a result of a court order.
3. Transfers to a mortgage lender that results from a buyer's default and subsequent foreclosure sales that result from default.
4. Transfers from a co-owner to one or more other co-owners.
5. Transfers made to a spouse or direct descendant.
6. Transfers between spouses as a result of divorce, legal separation or property settlement.
7. Transfers by a corporation, partnership or other association to its shareholders, partners or other equity owners as part of a plan of liquidation.
8. Transfers of a property to be demolished or converted to non-residential use.
9. Transfers of unimproved real property.
10. Transfers of new construction that has never been occupied and:
 - a. The buyer has received a one-year warranty covering the construction;
 - b. The building has been inspected for compliance with the applicable building code or, if none, a nationally recognized model building code; and
 - c. A certificate of occupancy or a certificate of code compliance has been issued for the dwelling.

COMMON LAW DUTY TO DISCLOSE

Although the provisions of the Real Estate Seller Disclosure Law exclude some transfers from the requirement of completing a disclosure statement, the Law does not excuse the seller's common law duty to disclose any known material defect(s) of the Property in order to avoid fraud, misrepresentation or deceit in the transaction. This duty continues until the date of settlement.

EXECUTOR, ADMINISTRATOR, TRUSTEE SIGNATURE BLOCK

According to the provisions of the Real Estate Seller Disclosure Law, the undersigned executor, administrator or trustee is not required to fill out a Seller's Property Disclosure Statement. The executor, administrator or trustee, must, however, disclose any known material defect(s) of the Property.

Buyers should check with the municipality to determine if permits and/or approvals were necessary for disclosed work and if so, whether they were obtained. Where required permits were not obtained, the municipality might require the current owner to upgrade or remove changes made by the prior owners. Buyers can have the Property inspected by an expert in codes compliance to determine if issues exist. Expanded title insurance policies may be available for Buyers to cover the risk of work done to the Property by previous owners without a permit or approval.

The municipality where the Property is located may impose restrictions on impervious or semi-pervious surfaces added to the Property. RE: Discoloration on 3rd floor Ceiling

During a recent home inspection, the inspector mentioned an area on the ceiling above the stairs going to the 3rd floor as a possible "mold like substance". We were asked to stop by and take a look at it to see what is going on, and to make any necessary recommendations to remedy the issue.

We are pleased to inform you that the discoloration on the ceiling appears to be a sticky substance that attracted dust, dirt or debris and became dark. During our inspection, we utilized thermal imaging and can confirm that this section of ceiling is not wet. This is not a mold issue due to water intrusion. In fact, this is not considered a mold issue at all.

According to guidelines set forth by the EPA, if you are growing mold in an area smaller than 10 sq ft., something that small falls under Normal Home Owner Cleaning & Maintenance. The reason is that anything that size or smaller does not pose a "Cross Contamination" issue for other parts of the home. There simply isn't enough mold present in an area that big that would affect other rooms in the home. So even if this were the most toxic mold on the planet, the total coverage area is less than 1 sq ft... much less than 10 sq ft.

As we discussed, clean with any non-bleach based cleaner. Mist the area with your cleaner then wipe with a damp cloth. If the discoloration or staining persists, you can paint over it to improve visual appearance. Other than that, there were no other issues pertaining to mold in this home.

I hope this helps. If you have any questions or need anything else, please let me know. It was a pleasure meeting you today and if there is anything else we can do for you, please call or email anytime.

Sincerely,

Don Culp

E-PERM Electret Ion Chambers were used for short-term radon screening measurements that were conducted at the above referenced property. The PA DEP Protocol Average radon level in this home during this test was:

AVERAGE RADON CONCENTRATION: 2.3 pCi/L

The result shows the radon level is WITHIN the PA DEP guidelines of less than 4.0pCi/L.

Radon Health Risk Information

Radon is the second leading cause of lung cancer, after smoking. The U. S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the Surgeon General strongly recommend that further action be taken when the home's radon test results are 4.0pCi/L or greater. The national average indoor radon level is about 1.3pCi/L. The higher the home's radon level, the greater the health risk to you and your family. Reducing your radon levels can be done easily, effectively and fairly inexpensively. Even homes with very high radon levels can be reduced below 4.0pCi/L. For further information about reducing elevated radon levels please refer to the "Pennsylvania's Consumer's Guide to Radon Reduction."

The Radon Certification Act requires that anyone who provides radon-related service/s or product/s to the general public must be certified by the PA DEP. You are entitled to evidence of certification from any person who provides such services or products. All radon measurement data will be sent to the PA DEP as required in the Act and will be kept confidential.

PLEASE KEEP THIS AND ALL RADON SYSTEM INFORMATION ON/NEAR YOUR RADON SYSTEM
